A Genuine Lock of Washington's Hair.

A description of this old time relique has been published several times, and many have seen and heard of it, though it may sound unreasonable to many of the readers of the ROUNDABOUT. Nevertheless, it is all true, and may interest many of them.

General Lane, an officer on Washington's staff, during the Revolutionary War asked Gen. Washington for a lock of his hair; when Washington said: "I will do so, if you will not receive it; because I am a General but as a friend." On the death of General Lane his son fell heir to the original lock of hair. This son became involved in a heavy law suit and employed the aid of his friend, Gov. Chas. S. Morehead, then a prominent lawyer, and told him if he won the suit for him he would divide with him the lock of hair. Gov. Morehead, by shrewd management, won the case, and came into possession of one-half of the lock as his fee. The Governor becoming deaf in one ear, told Miss Emma Barstow, now Mrs. R. B. Jillson, that if her remedy cured him as it had her, he would make her handsome present, that but one other on earth could do. Her remedy proved successful and Mrs. R. B. Jillson came into possession of one-quarter of the original lock of General George Washington's hair. Gov. Morehead promised Mrs. Jillson a copy of the letter written by the plaintiff, which contained the full history of the hair, but by neglect she failed to obtain it. The lock of hair is now in Mrs. Jillson's possession, enclosed in an old fashioned English pin, which belonged to her great great grandfather, and is known to be over 150 years old, brought to this country in 1812. Gov. Morehead's daughter fell heir to the other 1/4 of the lock. She moved to Chicago some years since to reside, and it is presumed that it was lost in the great fire in October 1871, as nothing has been heard of it. Any one desiring to see the lock of hair and pin can do so by calling at Mr. R. B. Jillson's store, on Broadway. It will be shown them with pleasure.

Loss—Between this office and the Baptist Church, a small watch chain about 4 inches long, with a small gold bangle on the end. The finder will please return to this office and be rewarded.

The ladies of the Baptist Church will have a supper at their Church building, on Tuesday night next, beginning at 7 o'clock. The ladies of this Church are noted for their liberality and skill in preparing such feasts. All who will patronize them may expect full satisfaction at the best rates. The proceeds will be devoted to the repair fund.

Remember the place—it will be in the Church. Come one and all.

For constitutional or serofulous catarrh, and for consumption induced by the serofulous taint, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the true remedy. It has cured numberless cases. It stops catarrh discharges, and removes the sickening odor—indications of serofilia.

An Honorable Record.

Mrs Irene Went, the First Honor pupil in the handwriting class in Louisville School No. 2, has kept a small diary five consecutive years, and during that time has been on the roll of honor every month except one, and then failed only on account of absence caused by sickness. Of these forty-five hours, forty-seven were first honors and only two second honors. During her earlier attendance at the school she kept a diary which has never suffered reproof for indecency or vulgarity. During the last two years she has not failed to recite a single lesson, and was given first honor every month of the time. We think the practice of publishing the honors at the end of every month has operated as a healthy stimulant in her case, and doubtless has increased her desire to excel. —Washington Observer.

The young lady above referred to is a daughter of Col. E. C. Went, of the city. The absence spoken of, which prevented her being placed on the roll of honor, was occasioned by her attending the death bed of her brother, Mr. Ed. Went, Jr., in this city last fall.

Brace Up.

You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with headache, you are fidgety, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up. Brace up, but not with stimulants, spring medicines, or bitter which have for their effect the same result as wine, which stimulate you for a hour and then leave you in worse condition than before. What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of Liver and Kidneys, restore your vitality and give renewed health and strength. Such a medicine will find in Electric Bitters, and only 25 cents a bottle at Jos. LeCompte's drug store. —3

The method of merit for promoting personal aesthetics is due to J. C. Ayer & Co., whose Hair Vigor is a universal beautifier of the hair. Harmless, effective, agreeable, it ranks among indispensable articles of the toilet. To wash your hair and which stimulate you for a hour and then leave you in worse condition than before. What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of Liver and Kidneys, restore your vitality and give renewed health and strength. Such a medicine will find in Electric Bitters, and only 25 cents a bottle at Jos. LeCompte's drug store.

W. C. T. U. Notes.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union meets every Wednesday p. m. at five o'clock, in the chapel of the Christian Church. Members earnestly requested to attend, and visitors cordially invited.

According to the British Medical Journal there was last year an enormous loss to the effective force of the army and navy from intemperance. In the army 1,400 cases of drunkenness were tried by courts martial, besides over 4,000 convictions for offenses sprung from excessive drinking. During the year 15,000 studies, or 102 to every thousand were maimed in this way for drunkenness.

These combined with these ingredients are a few simple healing remedies in the composition of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup making it just the article you should always have in the house for Coughs, Colds, Croup and Bronchitis. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Samples free, sold by Hughes and Chiles. —3

The Bald Knob Meeting.

It was our pleasure to be present at the meeting held on the 12th Inst., and must say that it was one of the best. It has been our good fortune to attend. There was a large crowd in attendance, and, although it was uncomfortably warm, they gave their undivided attention to the exercises of the two sessions. The meeting was called to order by the President, and after a minute by that order a prayer was offered by Dr. Wilson.

Col. Jno. L. Scott being absent on account of sickness, Mr. T. E. Utterback was introduced, who in a very concise and condensed address stated the object and working of the Association. The exercises then proceeded according to the programme.

At 12 o'clock the audience adjourned to the grove adjoining the schoolhouse, where a sumptuous dinner had been spread by the good people of the neighborhood. We do not intend to go into details, and use an array of adjectives to describe that dinner suffice it to say that we well know that we could wish, and the citizens of that section certainly deserve and no doubt receive the thanks of all the visitors for their generous hospitality on that occasion.

We hope the Association will hold other meetings throughout the country as it will result in much good wherever they are held.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.
Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second class mailable matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.
Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, JUNE 19, 1883.

The Centennial.

Frankfort was laid off as a town and a ferry established in the fall of 1785, and her first Centennial will be held with appropriate ceremonies on the 6th of next October. Frankfort will keep open doors and be at home to all who may attend on that occasion.

It is proposed to conduct the entire ceremonies on a plane that will command the approbation of all good people and make this the most noted event in the history of the Capital of Kentucky.

Col. John Mason Brown will give the statistical address, giving an outline of the material facts of the century, and Major Stanton will read 100 stanzas of poetry, devoting 1 stanza to each of the 100 years, thus drawing a picture of the entire century in verse. Hon. George V. Triplett, Editor of the Capital, will also prepare a centennial ode, and Mrs. Jennie C. Morton will deliver a centennial poem on the subject of the women of Frankfort during the century. Col. Thos. B. Ford and many other gifted poets will also invoke the muse for in some strain. The Governor and his cabinet and the Mayor and Board of Councilmen and all the heads of State and city departments and all societies of benevolence and the ministers of all the churches will be invited to take appropriate part in the ceremonies. The Governor will review his troops and Gens. D. W. Lindsey and John B. Castleman and their aids will have charge of the procession. Judge William Lindsey, formerly Chief Justice of Kentucky, will deliver an oration reviewing the courts and judicial thought of the century, while General Rodman and Judge G. W. Craddock will be expected to give a resume of the Frankfort bar, including such lawyers as have practiced in the appellate courts here at any time during the hundred years. In a word some suitable person will be requested to gather up and give to the Centennial Association the statistics of every trade, calling and industry so that the meeting will have before it something like a true picture of Frankfort during the last century. The Gilbert & Bradley Book Publishing Company, of Louisville, through John C. Herndon, its Vice President, will present the Association with an immense register index, sufficient to contain 30,000 names, besides all other proceedings in alphabetical order, the object of which is to have all the citizens of Frankfort and all who attend the meeting register their names and ages, together with the names of their fathers, mothers and children; also their residences and occupations, and when the centennial closes it is the purpose to turn over this register, with all the facts, literature and science which this meeting may produce to the city of Frankfort, to be kept for reference and use among the archives of the city while time shall last. Such a book would in a few years necessarily become the most important legal document in the State, and the Legislature would be likely to see the importance of such a collection of historic facts and pass a law making its contents evidence in all courts of the facts contained therein.

The Frankfort Centennial Association desires all former citizens of Frankfort to be present and take part in the ceremonies, and to that end solicits correspondence with them at once, wherever they may be, and the newspapers friendly to such a movement are requested to facilitate correspondence by calling attention to this centennial meeting.

Correspondence should be addressed to the Frankfort Centennial Association or to Col. John L. Scott, Chairman Association Committee. Persons having in their possession any old deeds, letters or other documents relating to the early history of Frankfort are requested to enclose them or copies of them at as early a date as possible to the Association. Frankfort sends greeting to her former sons and daughters, wherever they may be, with a cordial invitation to be present and partake of her hospitality and good cheer on the 6th of October, 1883.

Rev. R. E. Caldwell will preach at Franklin Church, at Bridgeport, tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

The following ladies of the Methodist Church will furnish the Ladies Exchange for to-day: Mrs. R. Glare, Mrs. J. T. Prentiss, Mrs. B. B. Jeffers, Mrs. W. S. Johnson, Mrs. Emma Dickerson, Mrs. S. Farrell, Mrs. A. G. Jeffers, Mrs. Joe Swigert. The articles will be on sale at Mr. Pat Russell's News Depot, from 11 till 6.

As a recognition of the worth of Mr. Frank C. Hutchison as an actor and his kindness in devoting his time and energy to secure the success of all local entertainments, for whatever purpose given, Messrs. Barrett & Hefner, Prof. Wayland Graham and the entire Mikado troupe have tendered him a complimentary benefit at the Opera House on Friday evening next, June 25th, on which occasion the Mikado will again be presented. Let him have a rousing house turn out everybody.

The Mikado.

The opera of Mikado was given at the Opera House Tuesday evening, by the young ladies and gentlemen of the city, under the direction of Prof. Wayland Graham, and was an immense success, eclipsing any amateur performance ever given here before, and in fact the opera was much more charmingly rendered than by any of the four professional troupes who gave it here the past season. The piece was splendidly put upon the stage, the hall was beautifully decorated with flags, and the stage settings and costumes were perfectly gorgeous. The audience in attendance was one of the largest ever in the Opera House, every seat being taken, and many who were unable to obtain seats were compelled to stand during the whole performance, and every one expressed themselves as delighted with it.

The chorus was large and their music splendid, such as would have done credit to any of the best professional troupes on the road. Miss Lizzie Davis Yum-Yum, Miss Rose Stewart as Peep-Boo, and Miss Lotte Stanton as Patti-Sing, all sang and acted their parts remarkably well, especially the latter, while Miss Alma Seaford sustained the character of Katisha in excellent style. Mr. Tom Brislau's Nanki-Poo, Mr. Harry Graham's Mikado, and Mr. Walter Franklin's Pish-Tush were all first-class, but Mr. Mat. Fahys' Poo-Bah and Mr. Frank Hutchison's Ko-Ko were just immense, the latter gentleman sustaining his character in a way that would have made an old professional turn green with envy. Mr. Egbert Stephens as Too-Lung, and Mr. Paul Sawyer as Whe-Wha handled the umbrella and fan in an artistic manner. But then every one on the stage performed their parts extremely well, and competent judges pronounced the performance perfect.

A new feature was introduced by Prof. Graham in the second act, which added very materially to the piece. Just before the entrance of Katisha, ten little girls, dressed in Japanese style, with fans and parasols, filed out on the stage and performed a beautiful dance.

As the opera afforded so much pleasure to all who saw it, and many who wished to see it had to go away on account of the seats all being full, a request was sent up to Prof. Graham during the performance to repeat it at an early date, and in compliance with that request it was reproduced last evening before a full house.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, JUNE 19, 1866.

A. B. Hammond, the candidate for County Clerk, has been keeping books for W. L. Pence for seven years, and is in every way well qualified for the position.

Mr. Saint C. J. Puge, youngest son of Mrs. Jane Page, of this city, died Thursday evening at his home near Payne's Depot, Scott county, after an illness of twelve months' duration. The remains were brought to this city yesterday afternoon and interred in the family lot in the cemetery.

Mr. Pat. Callahan and Miss Ellen Conway eloped from this city on Friday morning of last week and were married in Jeffersonville. They returned to this city Sunday evening, on the C. & O. train, and have settled down to married life, having received the forgiveness of the bride's parents.

Attention, Councilmen!

There is a rumor floating through the streets of the city that the School Board will sometime this evening march in a body to the wooden bridge, armed with field glasses to examine the progress of the work done on the new school building. Will there be any objection?

The City Council, at its last meeting, relieved the School Trustees of any further duties on the School Building Committee. The next day one of the School Trustees accosted one of the Councilmen, who, by the way, is a mounted man, and took him aside and whispered in his ear that he was anxious to negotiate a loan or to dispose of some stocks he had. The Councilman, thinking he had a good thing in sight, quickly asked what sort of stock it was. He was informed that it was School Board stock. The sale was not made.

Thursday morning Col. Ike Winfield, the Mayor of Woodlark, this county, sent to Judge R. A. Thompson the head and skin of a double-headed calf which one of his cows gave birth to. The heads were perfect, well formed and were joined together from the top of the head to within two inches of the end of the lower jaw. It had two mouths and four eyes, but only two ears. It was red, with a large white spot in each forehead. The monstrosity was born dead. A large number of persons went to the Court House, where it was on exhibition, to take a look at it.

Mr. Leon L. Moore, formerly of this city, was nearly killed by Henry Fischer, a bar-keeper at Jungens & Co.'s saloon, northeast corner of Third and Walnut streets, Louisville, on Tuesday afternoon. He went into the place under the influence of liquor and got into an altercation with Fischer, during which he ran his hand down in the hip pocket of his pants, as if to draw a weapon, when Fischer jumped over the counter and struck him a heavy blow on the head with a policeman's billy, knocking him senseless to the floor, and followed it up with numerous other blows until a policeman came in to stop the row. It was thought at first Mr. Moore's skull was fractured, but fortunately only the scalp was cut by the billy.

Monday morning while our motor was in operation, the short section of lead pipe connecting the motor with the two-inch pipe which conveys the water from the street main into the building, burst and in a second, the time required to shut off the water at the throttle valve, our office was flooded. Judge Sam. R. Smith was just entering the office at the time, and being on a line with the stream, was liberally sprinkled, but not liking to take water in that way, dodged around the large press, while several of the brethren who were supposed to be fond of water, took refuge behind the larger stands and frames on the other side of the room, and the pressman fled precipitately before the flood and spray, under the impression that some one had turned the hose on him from the street.

The lead pipe was supplanted by a stout iron one capable of withstanding the immense pressure in a short time, and everything has since been running as smooth as a ribbon.

Mr. J. Gray McLean, Private Secretary to State Auditor Fayette Hewett, and Miss Little Stanton, daughter of H. H. T. Stanton, will be married on Thursday next, and Dr. Sam. E. James and Miss Louisa Taylor will also be married on the same day.

The closing exercises of the colored Public School took place in the chapel of the colored school, during the Thursday and Friday evenings. Quite a number of parents and friends of the school were present and were well pleased at the success of their children. Year after year this school continues to improve. A larger account of the closing exercises will be given in our next issue.

Thursday afternoon Will Bryant, a colored man living in the lower part of the city, was standing on the railroad, near the engine house, when a party whose name we failed to learn, was shooting a dober rifle down on the edge of Henson, almost his gun up the hill and fired, the bullet striking Bryant just below the right knee and ranged up into the thigh, inflicting a painful wound. Mr. Smith was called in to dress the wound, who in looking for the ball ran a probe four inches into the wound but failed to reach it. The party who fired the shot claims the shooting was accidental.

Mr. Dan. J. McCarty, who has just returned from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where he was attending the meeting of the International Typographical Union, reports having seen Dick Ennis, the Murphy worker, who spent a month or two in this city in 1877, in the temperance work. He learned of Mr. McCarty's presence in the city and looked him up for the purpose of sending his love to all those he knew here. Dan says he is working well and seems to be getting along well in the world. He gave him a number of cards, bearing the inscription, "Richard Ennis, President Trades Assembly of Western Pennsylvania, Residence, 133 Centre Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.," for distribution among his friends here.

The Swiss Aid Society of Louisville having planned a grand excursion to the Swiss colony, "Bernstadt," in Laurel county, Kentucky, in which the Swiss and Germans from all over the State are most cordially invited to participate, we cheerfully comply with a request to inform our readers of all the details of interest to those who wish to join.

The Louisville & Nashville railroad company will sell tickets, from and to all stations on their lines, to parties intending to visit Bernstadt on this occasion, for one single fare from their respective stations to Louisville, whence a special excursion train for Pittsburgh (the railroad station of Bernstadt) will leave on Saturday night, July 3d, at 9 o'clock. Round trip, from and back to Bernstadt, is $3. Arrival at Pittsburgh about 4 o'clock, a. m., Sunday, July 4th. Excursions may use any return train between July 4th and July 8th, but their tickets will not be good after departure of train at 11:20 o'clock p. m., of July 8th, 1866. Parties from other points than Louisville along the line of the L. & N. R. R. must take tickets only from their respective points of departure for Louisville, and then obtain separate tickets good for the excursion train to and from Pittsburgh.

All tickets must be stamped at Pittsburgh to be made good for the return trip.

The Swiss singing society, "Alpenrosi," of Louisville, will attend in body, with their flag.

The "Gruely Society," of Louisville, will likewise attend, with 22 Canton flags and the Society banner. The "Swiss Aid Society," of Louisville, will have a decorated wagon to carry its members from Pittsburgh to Bernstadt.

Wagons will be provided for the use of the ladies and children in going from Pittsburgh to Bernstadt.

A live bear (the coat of arms of the city and country of Bern, Switzerland,) will march ahead of the procession as it moves from Pittsburgh to the colony, and various and sundry entertainments will be gotten up to make the occasion thoroughly enjoyable.

In reply to this request for the photographs of our different correspondents, our venerable Uncle Zeke Yocom has received the photo, of our Bloomington correspondent and is highly delighted with it. The picture is a splendid likeness and the position of the original was a very unique and interesting one at the time the shadow was caught. The artist has done his work well, and the picture will be preserved as a specimen of fine art. It is at present on exhibition in our sanctum.

FRANKFORT, June 14th, 1866.
Mr. El. M. Drane, Chairman of the Republican County Committee:

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., June 18, 1866.
Col. Ike Winfield, Woodlark, Ky.

I was notified when my circus showed in Frankfort, May 22d, that a colored half-breed boy, who was said to be the only colored cow ever headed could would be born to one of your circus colored cows, and was not surprised when I received the following telegram, to-wit:

"Winfield bubs up with a two-headed calf. Shall I bay him out, or engrave him to slide-show with you?"

Please telegraph me immediately your terms to go along with the other calf and lecture twice each day.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and rectum, and when once formed, are difficult to remove, and often become chronic. FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

WHAT SCIENCE SAYS.

Pea Ridge.

Tobacco planting and suitable weather.

Gardens all doing well; vegetables plentiful.

Corn looking well, cut worms all left.

They were afraid of meeting Capt.

Tracy and being warned in to work on the county road.

Improvements in progress; fence white-washed, a shed and old stable torn down, all due to their master, the court will not let us take for us.

There is a very plain community, meetings being in progress at several of the Churches within five miles caused the Ridge to be almost deserted last Sunday.

The small boy went to a grocery in Frankfort, made his purchases,

Mr. Grocer gave him a round eight sticks of candy. What store was it?

He will tell you for half-share of the candy. The ready is very nice. Pay the men for their work than no one can grumble.

A petition was about to be held before the County Court praying them to give the Ridge people some road or pathway from this place to the Shelby pike, but has been dropped for the reason that the Court would not accept signatures from every magistrate knowing that we need a road and 1,000 signatures would not strengthen this self-evident fact.

Bald Knob.

The grand Union Sunday-school opens its ports to saint and sinner to-morrow evening at 7 P.M.

Prof. Tracy is covered with shame by his insult offered his brother teachers through the ten reception of two teachers.

Prof. Thomas Hunter's exposition of counterfeited school districts has won for himself the applause of all the Knob, minus 2.

Mrs. Laura Bell, the accomplished and charming belle of Shelbyville, has become a stinging friend among our lovely vine-clad knobs.

Mr. Lee Bell, of Shelbyville, a member of the Southern Normal School at Bowling Green, attended the Teachers' convention here.

A mammoth patriotic meeting is now being held in the saloons at Lebanon. It is cheering to hear that many long lost sheep are being brought to the fold.

Mr. John Warren and lady and Prof. Nunn, of Shelby, have been visiting here. Prof. Nunn is a practical and popular educator. He is principal of a progressive school at Simpsonville.

The names of those who came to the front with basket in hand on last Saturday are as follows:

Mrs. Geo. Hoover, wife of chairman of board of trustees; Mrs. Maj. Flack, who has no school children but patron of schools; Mrs. S. R. Lee, patron or school; Dr. E. G. Loring, teacher in schools; Mrs. Neddy Peetong, a friend and patron of schools; Mrs. Geo. Harrod, an ever hospitable lady to all; and Miss Susan Harrel, an accomplished school girl of 16 years, without a mother or sister, had prepared with her own sweet hands food enough for the entire Association.

Lung Trouble Relieved.

Three years and a half ago I gave up my business on account of consumption. I spent two seasons in Florida and one in California. I have been under treatment of physicians all the time, among them some of the most celebrated in this city, and I have kept growing worse and worse. I got to the point where I could not stand and could scarcely walk.

On the 14th of last September I kept my bed, for I was not able to get out of it, and the doctors as well as my friends all expected me never to come out of it alive.

I was having frequent and profuse hemorrhages. About the same time I had filled my lungs with blood, became insensible. About six weeks ago I heard of S. S. and began taking it.

Its effects have been wonderful. I have not had a hemorrhage since I began it. I was soon able to sit up and even dress myself. My appetite became good; I could eat and retain my food, and no longer required a dietetic regimen.

I gained flesh and strength rapidly, and I am now walking about town whenever I wish to go. It is certainly a great surprise to me and to every one who knows me. Long since they had all expected me to die. I am willing and want all who suffer from lung disease to know of me and my case, and I also desire to advise you to speak and live. These are not idle words, but absolute facts which will with pleasure be substantiated for any who may doubt.

Treatise on blood and skin diseases.

The "Fearful and Wonderful" Mechanism of the Human System Graphically Portrayed.

In the editorial columns of the New York American, H. Loring, M. D., editor writes the following beautiful description of the laboratories of the human system. We took we have never read, dear or most trustworthy ones.

"One of the greatest of all chemical laboratories. Magnify the smallest cell of the body and what a factory is spread before the eyes—countless chambers in which are globes of air, masses of solid matter, globules of dying liquid; a trash pile and the whole is constituted and useful here is carried into every part of the system. Electrical power is here and there and is conducted to the brain, to the muscles and to the various nerve centers.

In another set of million chambers we see carbonic acid and vapors. By chemical action these are changed and purified in the lungs and the skin. The blood, we often say, is a great laboratory. Its functions are manifold, which the 400 cells of the body do not affect; blocks of oil like strings of tarts of bone, strings of albumen, drops of molasses, and lines of fat. How are these waste masses disposed of? Begin where you will in this great stream you must come to the purifying plant in the system. This is all the time, and the waste products are carried out into the stream, soles and carries this mass of waste into vast trenches whence into a smaller reservoir, and thence into larger reservoir which regularly discharges its contents.

This separation of urine, urea acid and other waste is carried on by the kidneys, after which the blood is purified. Then the heart, which is a pump, produces a permanent natural color and being a single preparation, is more convenient of application than any other.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER.

The great popularity of this preparation, after its test of many years, should be an encouragement, even to the most sceptical, to its真實性. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed.

It is a hair restorer, provided the hair follicles are not dead, which is seldom the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; removes the scurfy, crusty, dead skin of dandruff; keeps it hair falling off or changing color; keeps it soft, pliant, nutritious, and cause it to grow long and healthy.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER produces its effects by the healthy, invigorating properties of the oil which it contains, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Contains no alcohol, no acids, no resins, no extractives, and dry up the scurfy skin, leaving the hair bushy and brittle, as do other preparations.

Buckingham's Eye
FOR THE WHISKERS

Colorless lotion or balsam, designed, and is the best article for the whiskers. It is a preparation which invigorates and renews. In health, this blood-purifying process is carried on without knowledge. The organs in which it is done are faithful servants whose work is silent as long as health remains.

"People stronger, wiser until pain comes, serve before they will realize that they have been strengthened. To all know that pain concerns chiefly the exterior not the interior of the body. A certain set of nerves connect these blood-purifying organs with the brain. They may not gnaw and bite as they regularly, silently, report. When the blood is purified, the nerves indicate it by drawing the blood from the face and cheek, leaving the lip and eye blanched, by sending circulation farther into the smallest veins, the skin then becoming gray, yellow or brown; they also prevent the purification of the blood in the lungs and cause pulmonary diseases. The athlete becomes fatigued, he enjoys perfect health, especially in this land where we burn the candle in one mass." The athlete breaks down in the race; the editor falls at his desk; the merchant succumbs in his counting-room. These evils should not have been unexpected for nature long ago hung out her "lanterns of alarm," and "acted" accordingly.

It is a medicine which depends entirely upon experimental tests, you can make as well as he.

"If the output is discolored or muddy, if it contains albumen, lymph crystals, sweet or morbid matter, if escaped with blood, or roily with green, mucus and froth, something is wrong and disease and death are not far off."

"These organs which we have described, though at length, because they are really the most important ones in the human system, the ones in which a large majority of human ailments originate and are sustained, are the kidneys. They have not been much discussed in public because it is considered that the physician has known power over them. What is wanted for such organs is a simple medicine which can do no harm to the most delicate but must be of the greatest benefit to the afflicted. Such a remedy, tried and proved by many thousands all over the world is Warner's safe cure. With those whom disease attacks, it is a specific. For those in whom the seeds are sown and the beginning of illness started it is an infallible reliance. It may be recommended to the well to prevent sickness and to the sick to prevent death. With its aid the great filtering engines of the system keep on their silent work without interruption, the removal of germs and disease and death open the door and cross the threshold."

Such writing ought not only to please but to carry conviction that what Ed. Loring, M. D., so high an authority—says is true, and that his claim is well supported and that his practice is a success.
